Diversified Farming.

The farmers raise so many crops the harvest season never stops. They're always reaping oats or hay, or putting winter wheat away; alfalfa helps to pay their debts, and keeps the world in cigarettes, and they have corn and Johnson grass, and sorghum, rape and garden sass. So, be the weather dry or wet, some crop will be a good safe bet. The beans may shrivel in the heat, but there'll be divers kinds of wheat; the oats may languish in the rain, but there'll be lots of other grain. The cockleburs may pine away. but there'll be stacks of luscious hay. The western farmers used to raise but little else than yellow maize, and if a crop they chanced to lose, in wintertime they are their shoes. Crop failure meant a famine then; the fields were full of hungry men. But now the corn may die the death, may wither in the hot wind's breath, and still the farmbrimson-band cigars, and take to town the shining bones, and buy a peck of precious stones.

Andrew J. Collins, Schoolfield, Vn., was sent to Washington Asylum Hospital yesterday afternoon for observation as to his mental condition. Detective Patrick O'Brien arrested him at Union station, where, it is stated, he was scattering money on the floor. Collins told the detective he had been working too hard, and that he had come here to ask the President to settle his troubles.

PLAN TO HOLD EXERCISES IN MEMORY OF LAFAYETTE

IN POLICE PRECINCTS Patriotic Societies Have a Joint Meeting Scheduled for Next Wednesday Evening.

> The services of the Marquis de Lafayette in the cause of American independence are to be extolled at a meeting of patriotic societies to be held at the Hotel Lafayette Wednesday evening, according to a decision made at a meeting held there last evening, when representatives of thirteen organizations were in attendance. The date will nark the 159th anniversary of the birth of the French nobleman, and will be observed in many parts of the country, pursuant to a call by a general committee, of which former President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard is the chairman.

Dr. Joseph G. B. Bulloch, chancellor general of the Order of Washington, is chairman of the local committee having the proposed meeting in charge, while H. Oden Lake is vice chairman and Alfred Barbour Dent secretary. A program of addresses, and with musical and literary features, is being prepared. Floral wreaths are to be placed on the monument to Marquis de Lafayette in Lafayette square Wednesday by both the Order of Washington and the Daughters of the American Revolution, according to announcement made at the meeting last evening.

Societies represented at the meeting included the Daughters of the American Revolution, Order of Washington, Scions of Colonial Cavalliers, Daughters of 1812, Society of Colonial Wars, Sons of the Revolution, Sons of the American Revolution, Sons of the Spanish War, Founders and Patriots, Huguenots of South Carolina, Army and Navy Union.
